

Rubbles

Moddi

These rivers are rain from a summer gone by
    Dragging the rubbles to sea
They're pointing their guns towards a Northern sky
    Still none of them call themselves free

Afraid to collide, you fall out of your mind
    To kiss concrete ground with your teeth
But with two cigarettes and your letter combined
    This air is too heavy to breathe
    This air is too heavy to breathe

In order to stop them you cry out a spell
    That withers in rubbles overseas
Take all your fluid words, kiss me farewell
    And give me peace, give me peace
