

Murderers of All Murderers

Heaven Shall Burn

Irresponsible and unreflecting
Displacing human sense into the afterworld Running after faint beliefs, where you just have to feel
Degeneration, dislocation and always hunting for the ones to lead you
No aspiration, no ambition
The one you hope for, the one you wait for Lies in a long forgotten tomb
Condemned and murdered
Revealed and tortured
We have killed him, you and I
Endless drifting with the stream
And there will be no way to solace
We've raised ourselves to gods
We drank the seas and wiped the horizons
Just everything we loved has led to death by our knives
A deed, that's just too great for us
There is no atonement
And no forgiveness there will be
