

Old Lady

The Lumineers

An old lady crosses the street
And as she waves to me, I don't see her
And I know that one day I

Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh

And how I miss my mother's mother
She became a stranger, but I still love her
And I hope, I hope she returns

Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh

Now the day came when we left her
We couldn't say goodbye, and I know that I was wrong
But I hope that she knows

Ooh, ooh, ooh, ooh
