

Mercy

Lewis Capaldi

For every second you've been talking
I've been trying to count the lines around your face
Cause I don't know if I'll ever be this close again
I feel like I'm just wasting time before you pull the trigger
It's the drawing of the line it's my ghost you're going to give up
Got your made up mind it hurts to see you're alright
When I'm not alright
So if you're calling it a night
Oh please have, have mercy
Have mercy on me, you're breaking my heart
(Oh please have, have mercy)
Have mercy on me, I'm falling apart
Have mercy, my heart
I felt you slip away so slowly
I lost my grip a little more each time we touched
I've got no hope I guess I'll never get it back again
Felt like I was just wasting time before you pulled the trigger
It's the drawing of the line it's my ghost you're going to give up
Got your made up mind it hurts to see you're alright
When I'm not alright
So if you're calling it a night
Oh please have, have mercy
Have mercy on me, you're breaking my heart
(Oh please have, have mercy)
Have mercy on me, I'm falling apart
And I just don't know how we got
So wrong, for so long
(Oh please have, have mercy)
Have mercy on me, mercy my heart
Somehow I can't let go
But I know I've been holding on too long
Somehow I can't let go
But I know I've been holding on too long
Oh please have, have mercy
Have mercy on me, you're breaking my heart
(Oh please have, have mercy)
Have mercy on me, I'm falling apart
And I just don't know how we got
So wrong, for so long
(Oh please have, have mercy)
Have mercy on me, mercy my heart

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>