

Almost

Riley Green

Slipped out of town without a handshake or goodbye
Just this old guitar, I had stars in my eyes
I was playing bars and I was getting girls
I wasn't living right but I was staying high every night
Underneath the glow of a neon light
One morning I woke up, bottles as far as I could see
When I closed my eyes and I drifted back to sleep, I saw

The way Mama looked at me, even though I know I had to be hell to raise
'Cause man I raised some hell
Heard Daddy say "son get your lazy ass up
'Cause there ain't no sense in sleeping all day"
I thought about the folks back home and how they care about me so
It makes me wanna set this bottle down, almost

Through the haze of a smoky old saloon
I saw a girl cuttin' me a grin from across the room
And I swear she had wings
She loved to hear me play guitar and I loved to watch her dance and I loved to hear her sing
One night she laid down the law, told me that I had to make a choice
When I closed my eyes and I listened to her voice I saw

The first time we held hands
I saw the first time that we danced
I saw that one night on the creek
And that night you snuck out of your dorm
And met me down on Mountain Street
Thought about that Sumer we spent down on the coast
Made me wanna set this bottle down, almost

One last time I found myself down and out
I was just outside of Birmingham, in some no-name town
I couldn't recall the night before, when I drank myself to sleep
So I threw on this old ball cap, and stumbled out into the street
Too many nights of the same old same
I got lost in this damn crowd
But when I packed up this old guitar case I took one last look around, and I saw

That old barn, where I kept my first truck
And I walked my bird dog Bo past the pond where we killed our first duck

I saw Grandpa's garden, I can still see them pretty vines
But it's been some time, since they've held of muscadine
Thought about how Grandma's house still smells the same
Even though it's been a few years now, since I've seen her face
So I raised my glass up for one last toast
I finally set this bottle down, almost

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>