

Architects of the Apocalypse

Heaven Shall Burn

Architects of the apocalypse
Architects of the apocalypse Greed and addiction drowned their pity Washed away their thoughts of compassion and regret
A world left wounded, slaved and raped
Your paradise-a hell for your descendant your descendant Cathedrals of justice in a kingdom of hypocrisy
Castles of self-righteousness built on graves
Masses kept in forlorn, nations laid to waste
The dynamo of another golden age
Darkened our future, blind by greed
Sold your fate to the highest price I, I cannot believe!
I, I cannot believe-in you!
You are the enemy!
You are the enemy! A rush into our doom, as if your God came down
And cures all failure
A rush into our doom, as if your God came down
And cures all failure
cures all failure Cathedrals of justice in a kingdom of hypocrisy
Castles of self-righteousness built on graves
I, I cannot believe!
I, I cannot believe!
You are the enemy!
You are the enemy!
the enemy!
