

From the Grave

James Arthur

I never meant to leave you there, a crown of roses in your hair
Along with everything you ever feared
And every step I see our face, and even though I'm miles away
Just close your eyes, and you can feel me here
And feel me here Don't give up even when I'm gone
Don't give up From the Grave of Crow
Through the pouring rain before you
I would pay the cross
To be in your arms again
The fire I would walk through
For all the pain I caused you
Oh, I would pay the cross
To be in your arms again
To be in your arms again
To be in your arms again Now, I'll always be right where you were
No borders can keep us apart
And on the other side, I'll need you there
So bury me and lock me in
I'll find a way to rise again
I'll break away to find out where you were Oh, where you were
Don't give up even when I'm gone
Don't give up From the Grave of Crow
Through the pouring rain before you
I would pay the cross
To be in your arms again
The fire I would walk through
For all the pain I caused you
Oh, I would pay the cross
To be in your arms again
To be in your arms again
To be in your arms again (Oh, yeah) From the Grave of Crow
Through the pouring rain before you
I would pay the cross
To be in your arms again
Fire I would walk through
For all the pain I caused you
Oh, I would pay the cross
To be in your arms again
To be in your arms again
To be in your arms again

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>