

Coins In a Fountain

Passenger

fear is dark but my love is a lantern shining up like coins in a fountain hope is a tree sitting on a mountain where the grass don't grow there's a saddled sea but my love is an island wild and free like the hills and the highlands there's a breeze that brings me back to dry land where the flowers grow and love is a baby born and love is the last unicorn and love is the only song I'll sing hate is a poison love is a remedy singin' out like the sweetest of melodies hope is a ghost in the deepest of memories stronger than tenemy fear is the enemy in the dark where it creeps like a shark in the coldest sea deepest part hope is the beat in the oldest heart a hand in a hand in a brand new start love is a fireside warm on the coldest of nights now, love is the only song I'll sing all night and love is the truest of words and love is the last winter bird and love is the only song I'll sing oh, I'll sing till' I can't sing no more
oh, I'll sing
till' my throat is sore

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>