

It Won't Always Be Like This

Carly Pearce

I remember how I couldn't wait to get out
Of my hometown now I'm looking for, every excuse to go back on the weekend
I can still see the front porch balcony every time I leave, grandpa waving back at me
Wish I could've told myself back then
It won't always be like this
I know nothing lasts forever but sometimes I still forget
It won't always be like this
I remember hearing the door slam
22 didn't have a clue who I was, who I could trust and who were my real friends
I had big wings but didn't have a sky
Just a front row view of everybody flying high
Waiting for my time, wish I could've told myself back then
It won't always be like this
It won't always be like this
No the heart won't ache forever no matter how hard it gets
It won't always be like this, no
Looking at you, looking back at me
All I wanna do is make another memory
And love you like it's the end
Cause it won't always be like this
It won't always be like this, no
It won't always be like this
I know it won't always be like this
I wish life would last forever so I could live it all again
It won't always be like this
It won't always be like this
