

Love While You Can

Idina Menzel, LaChanze & Jenn Colella

We're none of us -getting any younger, you can feel the time go by
And maybe we can't lose our hurt and anger, but goddamn it all let's try
We plan a better day, the planets turn one way
So though it seems unlikely, girls, this is what I say Love wherever, end whenever, end however you should
Yes marriage is a bastard but love is always good
It's nothing you prepare for, it's nothing that you plan
But love when this world lets you
Love while you can Our love belongs to everyone who loves us, so it's not just you and me
And we both know love doesn't make us perfect, it just makes us want to be
If what we had before is broken on the floor, we can see the way the pieces work
And make it something more
And love wherever, end whenever, end however we feel
Let anger clean the cut out, let love help us heal
It's not the love we dreamed of back when we began
But love if your heart lets you
Love while you can I believe our fates will find us, I believe that we get but one true love
I believe in seeing signs, and I believe in just the stars above
And I thought you believed in me and deep down we were meant to be
I tried to let that go
But I can't let you go And if these feelings flow I still love you so So love wherever, end whenever, end however love is It's here that hides the heart away
It's love that forgives
And it wasn't what we dreamed of
It wasn't in the plan
But love the way love finds you
Love while you can
Love and keep on living, when the shit hits the fan Love and be forgiving Oh my Kate My Anne Love when this world lets you
Love while you can

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>