

Pretty Girl

David Ryan Harris

Most girls, wish that they had your eyes
And boys secretly fantasize
But me i am just mesmerized
By your every word and movement You are as close as a girl can be
To ideal somehow you disagree
The world sees perfection but all you see
Is room for more improvement Silly girl pretty girl
If you don't see
What a spell your sweet love has cast on me
Girl and i pray that never will this trance be broken I melt, in your mouth when u talk to me
I wanna kiss you so slow and sweet
You are, the book that i want to read
In braille cover to cover
You're so deep inside
You're my DNA
You're how tall i am
You're how much i weigh
You're the reason someone had to pen the phrase:
"To know her is to love her" Silly girl pretty girl
If you don't see
What a spell your sweet love has cast on me
Girl and i pray that never will this trance be broken Everything you do is like a movie scene
Every pose you strike is from some magazine
And i want to turn your pages Silly girl pretty girl
If you don't see
What a spell your sweet love has cast on me
Silly girl pretty girl
If you don't see
What a spell your sweet love has cast on me
Girl and i pray that never will this trance be broken No no, no no Silly girl pretty girl
If you don't see
What a spell your sweet love has cast on me
Girl and i pray that never will this trance be broken

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>