

Runaway

Noah Reid

Why do you run away
From everything
Well I don't need an answer this time
I'm not gonna complicate
For the sake of the war in my mind
Oh yeah but it's hard to say, Anything
Though I feel more articulate now than I did yesterday
But tomorrow's a whole other town
And I'm already on the way down
Man what is it gonna take
I wanna pull up my stakes and go home
But know it's a longer play
Can I talk to myself all alone and say what you wanna say
Anything
Well I don't need you hanging around
It's not coming easily
But my faith in this hole in the ground
And I'm already all the way down, Now
Oooo, oooo
Oooo
So will you run away
Once again
Now that you've cursed at us all in the room
Now that you lost today
You'll be losing another one soon But I want to believe again
Anything
And I don't know the answer this time to how do you operate
When you think you're supposed to be fine
Oh how do you walk a straight line
When you're already on a long winding
Oooo, oooo
Oooo ...

