

Mostly to Yourself

Noah Reid

Well it's mostly in the morning
When your eyes, they ain't opening
And it's mostly that you won't even try

And it's mostly in the gutter
With your voice broke, you sing
And it's mostly to yourself, that you lie

You say, "fuck it man, you're better off, it's better this way
You're mostly in the shadows, and that's fine."
Or you say, "fuck it man, you're not fine
But you're doing it your way."
And it's mostly to yourself, that you lie
It's mostly to yourself, that you lie

You put your keys on the counter, you check your phone
You surround yourself with sounds, just to be sure you're not alone
'Cause when it's quiet and you're reminded of all the things that you won't do
You just let 'em pass you by
You reach halfway and say, 'fuck it man, you tried.'

And you let yourself off easy
And when your heart is on the ground
You say this won't last forever, just give it time
But time keeps moving forward
And you mostly come around
But it's mostly to yourself that you lie
It's mostly to yourself that you lie
It's it mostly to yourself that you lie
It's mostly to yourself, that you lie
