

Papercut (feat. Troye Sivan) [Grey Remix]

Zedd & GREY

Now we're staring at the ceiling
You're so pretty when you're mad
All that I can hear is breathing
Aaah Aaah And we're stuck inside the silence
In a cold cold war
We're too proud to say we're sorry
Aaah Aaah Right now it feels like we're bleeding
So deep that we might not get back up
Our words will tear through the surface
Like a paper, like a papercut Right now don't know why I love you
But by the morning when we wake up
I'll reach for you and remember
It was just a paper, just a papercut
I find refuge in the distance even when we're breaking down
Can we pause it just for one kiss?
Aaah Aaah Cause I never meant to hurt you
And I know you feel the same
Still the only one I run to
Aaah Aaah Right now it feels like we're bleeding
So deep that we might not get back up
Our words will tear through the surface
Like a paper, like a papercut Right now don't know why I love you
But by the morning when we wake up
I'll reach for you and remember
It was just a paper, just a papercut
Right now it feels like we're bleeding
So deep that we might not get back up
Our words will tear through the surface
Like a paper, like a papercut
Right now don't know why I love you
But by the morning when we wake up
I'll reach for you and remember
It was just a paper, just a papercut

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>