

Black Keys

Jonas Brothers

She walks away
Colors fade to grey
Every precious moment's now a waste
She hits the gas
Hoping it would past
The red light starts to flash it's time to wait And the black keys
Never looked so beautiful
And a perfect rainbow never seemed so dull
And the lights out
Never had this bright a glow
And the black keys
Are showing me a world I never knew, no
A world I never knew
She hates the sun
'cause it proves she's not alone And the world doesn't revolve around her soul
No
She loves the sky
'cause it validates her pride
Never let's her know when she is wrong
And the black keys
Never looked so beautiful And a perfect rainbow never seemed so dull
And the lights out
Never had this bright a glow
And the black keys
Are showing me a world I never knew, no
Yeah
When the walls start closing in
Don't let 'em get
Inside of your head
Don't let 'em get
Inside of your head
Don't let 'em get
Inside of your head
Don't let them inside
'Cause the black keys
Never looked so beautiful
And a perfect rainbow never seemed so dull
Ohh
And the lights out
Never had this bright a glow
And the black keys
Are showing me a world I never knew

Don't let 'em get
Don't let 'em get
Inside of your head, no
Don't let 'em get
Inside of your head
Don't let 'em get
Don't let 'em get
Inside of your head
Don't let 'em get

No

Inside of your head
Sometimes you find
It's better black and white

End

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songlyrics.band/>